February Volunteer of the Month by volunteer Megan Clark

In his 2.5 years as a Park Patroller on the city trail system, Bob Wolfe has dealt with a variety of situations, including picking up litter and helping trail users in need of assistance. The biggest emergency he has ever encountered was a biker who had broken his leg.

"He was in terrible shape," Wolfe said. "Fortunately, it was right by a call phone." Trained patrollers provide a visible presence on the city trail system to help support a safer environment for the trail users.

Wolfe said he joined Park Patrol because he was an avid user of the trail. There have been more than 325 trained patrollers since 1997.

"I just like to use the trail," he said. "Whether or not I was with Park Patrol, I'd still be there. It's a beautiful, beautiful place and a wonderful asset to the city."

Public Works Volunteers are Making a Difference

In the spring of 1994, the first Public Works volunteers began serving Columbia at the City's Household Hazardous Waste Collection Facility. Other projects quickly followed.

Public Works volunteers have made things happen in the waste arena. They took the mission of the program to heart, "... to extend waste reduction and environmental clean up programs, educate citizens about waste reduction issues, and encourage the spirit of volunteerism in the City of Columbia."

Public Works volunteers are in your neighborhood and offices. They provide the answers to those prickly recycling or composting questions. They advise where to get extra garbage bags or how to get involved with the Adopt A Spot Program. They urge their friends to use both sides of the piece of paper BEFORE it goes into the recycling bin. They help with Earth Day and Day with Wildlife events, festivals, and classroom presentations. They create and design recycling literature and mailings. The Public Works volunteers choose a task they enjoy and are truly the ones making a difference in waste reduction and our community. They deserve our appreciation and regard. THANK YOU TO ALL PUBLIC WORKS VOLUNTEERS!

Join The Public Works Volunteer Team

The Columbia Public Works Volunteer Program invites you to join their volunteer team. You can make a difference in your community volunteering as little as two hours a month. You and your family can volunteer together to improve the earth, learn new skills, meet new people, and have fun! We will help you find a volunteer position just right for you! Orientation and training are also provided. We have immediate openings for the following programs:

- Household Hazardous Waste Collection, April - November
- Earth Day Children's Activity, April Mulch Giveaway Day, 4 times per
- Drop-off Recycling Area Monitoring,
- Bring Recycling Games and Activities
- to Schools and Youth Groups • Adopt-A-Spot Litter Collection,
- Composting Projects, ongoing
- Appear as "Mr. Bag-It" at Events

Council Action

The Council on Nov. 18:

• Appropriated funds for the Share the Light program. In August 2001, the Share the Light program was created as a way for residents to contribute to city of Columbia projects through their utility bills. A total of $4,500 was appropriated to youth recreation scholarships ($2,700) and crime prevention ($1,800).

The Council on Dec. 2:

- Adopted the Parks & Recreation Master Plan 2002 Facilities Needs Update. The plan updates the inventory of existing public and private park, recreation and open-space facilities.
- Authorized to proceed with a New Century Fund fund-raising campaign for the Martin Luther King Memorial restoration. The New Century Fund Inc. is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization created to support city of Columbia projects. The goal of the campaign is to raise $100,000 to repair the memorial and create an endowment to fund future mainte-

Commission vacancy

The City is accepting applications for the following Commission. Applications and current vacancies are on the City's Web site at www.GoColumbiaMo.com on the City Council page. Call 874-7208 for information and specific requirements.

• Human Rights Commission (2 vacancies) Apply by noon, Friday, February 7.

TreeKeepers 2003 Class

The fifth TreeKeepers training begins on February 25 as volunteers learn tree identification. Five more sessions are held to cover tree diseases, tips to plan and plant, how to prune, insects, and soil, air and water requirements.

In exchange for the training received through the program, TreeKeepers agree to give 36 hours of volunteer service toward Parks & Recreation Department tree projects, which take place on Saturdays throughout the year.

All classes are held at City Hall, 701 E. Broadway from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Class dates are February 25, March 1, 4, 11, 18 and April 1 and 8. A tree project followed by graduation will be held on April 19.

To find out how to become a TreeKeeper, call 874-7499 or E-mail volunteer@GoColumbiaMo.com

MESSAGE FROM MR. BAG-IT

Empty motor oil containers should be placed in the black trash bag, not the blue recycling bag. Although the motor oil containers may be marked #1 or #2 plastic, the oil in these containers leaves a residue and contaminates recyclable materials. Containers with used motor oil can be taken to the Household Hazardous Waste Collection Facility for disposal. Thank you for recycling!

City Sponsors Boy Scout Skill Center

The City of Columbia sponsored a Boy Scout Skill Center in November. The skill center provided an opportunity for Boy Scouts to earn merit badges to fulfill their advancement requirements. The merit badge counselors were City of Columbia employees who volunteered their time and job skills. Badges offered were Emergency Preparedness, Public Health, Crime Prevention and Fingerprinting, Computers, Energy and Electricity.

"We are quite pleased with the success of the skill center," said Bill Watkins, Assistant City Manager. "The skill center gave City employees an opportunity to share their job skills with the scouts while also assisting these young men as they progress through the scouting ranks."

Hank Stoltz, Assistant City Attorney and event coordinator, said "One objective of the skill center was to provide a positive experience for all involved – the scouts, their parents and our City employees. I was thrilled with the result. The scouts came away from the event with a better understanding of skills required for some City staff, and our employees got an opportunity to show off their skills and make some new friends in the scouts and their families."

Leigh Nutter, Volunteer Services Coordinator, added: "Events such as this require substantial volunteer efforts in order to be successful. It's nice to know that our City employees also unselfishly volunteer their valuable time for worthwhile community endeavors."

Discussions are in progress with the Girl Scout Council about conducting a similar event with them.

Receive an Estimated Bill?

During the winter months there are times that Water and Light meter readers cannot read customers' meters. Water and electric bills are estimated in mass when weather conditions create safety hazzards for employees. Wind chills below zero pose a frost bite threat and heavy snow cover makes it difficult to read water meters in the ground. When the meters cannot be read, an estimate is based on the average usage for previous months.

No Lights? No Water? Call 875-2555

One of the goals of Columbia Water and Light is to provide reliable service. Unfortunately, snow, ice, cars hitting utility poles, squirrels, etc., can cause damage to utility lines and interrupt service. If you experience a problem with your water or electric service, call the emergency number right away. Any details you can provide will aid the workers fixing the problem. When an outage occurs, crews are dispatched immediately. Since no two outages are the same it is often difficult to estimate how long it will take to restore service, but there will be crews working on the problem until service is restored.

Verifying 911 Data

Joint Communications uses an enhanced 911 system to identify the address of a call during an emergency. Enhanced 911 indicates an address, the name of the resident and the phone number from which the call is made. However, calling 911 does not always ensure that the enhanced 911 system will display your exact location. There are several reasons the could be inaccurate. "911" data can be inaccurate if the resident has recently moved and maintained the same phone number. The phone company is responsible for making the address change, but occasionally the change is not made promptly. To verify correct address information, call 874-7400,

location address

5 p.m. and ask if you can verify a "911" address. Calling 911 from a cellular phone may also provide incorrect location information. 911 will either display the address of the cellular phone tower or

Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to no address at all. Another reason for an inaccurate address is disconnected phone service, or "Express Dial." Express Dial is a feature in Boone County that allows a disconnected phone to access 911. The caller can reach 911, but an address may not be displayed.

Businesses operating a switchboard may also display inaccurate locations. 911 calls placed through a switchboard will read the location of the main switchboard and not from where the call is actually made. For example, some businesses and organizations operate from a central switchboard.

If a person calls from one of its branch offices to report an emergency, the address displayed at 911 would be the main address, not the branch office address. Do not assume that the enhanced 911 system is displaying the accurate location of the emergency. Setting the phone down and walking away will not ensure that emergency services will know where to find you. A good rule to remember is to always verify the address of the emergency when you make a 911 call.

Whenever you call 911 in an emergency, the first thing that occurs is verification of your address.

Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial Restoration Project

The City of Columbia New Century Fund, Inc. has embarked on a campaign to repair the Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial. The goal is to keep the Memorial a fitting tribute to Dr. King and his legacy by raising $100,000 for repairs and create a maintenance endowment.

The Memorial, completed in 1993, is a unique piece of art, dedicated to the teachings of Dr. King. Located near the Stadium Boulevard entrance to the MKT Trail, the Memorial includes an amphitheater built into the ground and features eight triangular columns, each with a quote from Dr. King.

Since the Memorial was constructed, it has experienced water damage to the face of the blue tiles making up the steps of the amphitheater, a focal point of the site. Regular cleaning has not been sufficient to solve the problem.

Beginning in 1999, the city has worked to evaluate the Memorial and determine its problems and how it can be repaired. A study by art conservators estimated costs to permanently repair the Memorial at $55,000 to $80,000.

The Memorial was built through a public/private partnership funded partially with private donations. Over 500 Columbia residents, including children, contributed to make the Memorial a reality. It is the hope of the New Century Fund that the campaign to repair the Memorial will continue the public's support and continue the Memorial as a place of pride for gener-

Art at the ARC

A special and one-of-a-kind feature of the Activity and Recreation Center (ARC) is site-specific public art in the atrium of the facility. Artist Norman Courtney was selected in 2000 by the city's Standing Committee on Public Art to create art for the ARC and has worked with the project design team since then.

The result is a 12-foot tall, 15-foot wide, 1,200 pound sculpture of a figure entering water that was recently installed at the ARC. Visitors can't miss the sculpture, made of a variety of materials including plexiglass, fiberglass and silver leaf, as it hangs from the ceiling just past the main entry doors. The splash element of the sculpture is evident from the second level exercise track. The art project is the fourth to be completed as part of the city's Percent for Art program, an effort to place site-specific public art in eligible city buildings. For more information, contact the Office of Cultural Affairs at 874-6386 (TTY 874-7488). OCA@GoColumbiaMo.com, or visit the Cultural Affairs page on www.GoColumbiaMo.com

COLUMBIA Memorial Gifts

Algalee Adams had served as a member of Columbia's Commission on Cultural Affairs. When Ms. Adams passed away last fall, fellow Commissioners remembered her with a gift to the City of Columbia's Share the Light program. Their gift will be used to add and maintain public art in our community.

Memorial gifts can be made to the city to support a number of areas. Whether it's planting new trees, allowing a child to attend summer camp, or building a new park playground, you can remember a loved one or friend with a gift to the City of Columbia. City staff will send a card acknowledging your gift.

City Arts Funding

Each year the city supports local arts programming. Funded projects focus on presentation of visual, performing and literary arts and related educational offerings. To qualify, arts organizations must have 501(c)3 nonprofit status and must propose activities that occur within city limits from October 1, 2003 to December 31, 2004. To learn more, attend an informational workshop on January 30, 6-8 p.m. at the Activity and Recreation Center or contact the Office of Cultural Affairs, 874-6386, (TTY 874-7488), oca@GoColumbiaMo.com

Social Service Funding Proposal Forms Available for 2004

The Boone County Community Services Advisory Commission is requesting funding proposals for social services to be provided in Columbia and Boone County during the year 2004. Areas of funding emphasis include:

- Emergency Services
- At-Risk Youth Services
- Self-Sufficiency and Employment Services
- Counseling and Rehabilitation
- Elderly and Disabled Services

An informational meeting will be held on February 5 at 3:30 p.m. in the Boone County Commission Chambers, 801 E. Walnut. The submission deadline is April 4, 2003. Proposal forms are available through the Office of Community Services, 874-7488 (v/tty) or on the web at www.GoColumbiaMo.com

Storms to Streams: It's Not Just Water Under the Bridge

Do you know the effects storm water runoff has on your community or on the streams that run through your neighborhood? Do you know what best management practices (BMP) are? Do you know the impact a parking lot, construction site or lawn fertilizer can have on the life in your stream?

All these questions and more are answered in the Community Storm Water Project's presentation, "Storms to Streams: It's Not Just Water Under the Bridge". This slide show is free and available to clubs, church groups, homeowners/neighborhood associations and other community organizations. The presentation can be as long or as short as your group requires. The average time for the slide show is 30-45 minutes with questions but we are happy to tailor it to your organizations needs. If you would like more information or to schedule a presentation, please contact
